Ruminations from the Rectory

The Tree

A student once asked his teacher, "What's the meaning of life?"

The teacher, said nothing. He just pointed at the tree. The student waited, confused. He thought he'd get a quote, a lecture, a divine secret, but all he got was silence.

So he asked again, "Master, what does life mean?" Still no reply. Just a calm smile. And the same tree.

The student was losing patience. He stared at the tree looking for clues. Its bark, its shape, it's stillness. What does this mean he asked himself. Then slowly he noticed something. The tree wasn't trying to be anything. It wasn't trying to grow fast. It wasn't trying to impress. It was just being.

The teacher finally spoke. "The tree does not force growth. It does not chase sunlight. It simply trusts the seasons. It blends with the wind, sheds when it must, blooms when it's time, and never asks, am I enough? You're not here to chase meaning, you're here to become it. Like the tree, grow quietly. And trust the timing."

The Bible puts it like this. There is a time for everything and a season for every activity under the heavens. Ecclesiastes chapter 3 verse 1

WEEK ST MARY BONAVENTURES WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A very interesting evening!  Our meeting on 11th June featured a talk by beekeeper Deidrie Conniss about bees, their biology, behaviour, and importance to the environment.

Deidrie began by explaining that while there are hundreds of bee species worldwide, humans are mainly interested in honey-producing species such as Apis mellifera, the western honeybee. She described other bee species, including giant Himalayan bees and stingless bees found in the Americas, and explained the origins of so-called “killer bees,” which resulted from crossbreeding African honeybees with South American bees.

Deidrie highlighted the crucial role bees play in pollination. Bees evolved alongside flowering plants, collecting nectar while transferring pollen between flowers, enabling plants to reproduce. Different bee species are adapted to different flower types; for example, bumblebees can access flowers with deep tubes that honeybees cannot.

We discussed the relationship between bees, wasps, and hornets, noting that wasps are often unfairly disliked despite their ecological value as predators of crop pests. Honeybees can be distinguished by the hairs on their bodies, which help collect pollen.

The talk explored the structure of a honeybee colony, which can contain over 60,000 workers in summer. Worker bees are female, while males (drones) exist mainly for mating. Queens mate only once but store enough sperm to lay eggs throughout their lives. Colonies make collective decisions, including when to replace an aging queen or when to swarm.

Finally, Deidrie emphasized the importance of all pollinating insects, not just honeybees!

The meeting concluded with a practical beekeeping activity, where members learned about beeswax and candle rolling. Members had great fun making a candle which they took home!

COMMUNITY MONEY ADVICE LAUNCESTON

During 2025 the Cornwall PEOPLE IN MIND outreach project has enabled Community Money Advice Launceston to visit and meet local residents of some of the most rural villages and hamlets within North East Cornwall, including Week St Mary. This has enabled our team to become engaged with some of the least advantaged locally. The elderly especially, including those who may be experiencing difficulties within their finances, particularly with their utilities, local taxes and benefit structure.

The FREE services which CMAL offer in these areas has been particularly welcome among those who find it so difficult to keep abreast with the newer methods in technology. With nationally 1 in 7 people being unable to communicate effectively with the internet/email/online banking system, it is little wonder why our team is fully stretched to help. We have a policy of helping every genuine request for help. One of the main lessons we have learnt from our visits is that many local people were unaware of us, or the areas in which we can help, and especially the direct contact we have with some agencies, like SouthWest Water or Cornwall Council about council tax problem

The major areas of immediate concern to many of our clients currently are:

PENSION CREDIT WINTER FUEL PAYMENT BLUE BADGES PIP renewal

If you are worried or feel the forms to fill are too complicated. DO NOT WAIT.

If you feel you would like to contact outside our visit dates, then make an initial contact by phone on 01566 777407 or 07762 092 830 and leave a message on our answerphone if our office is closed. For those who prefer email then our contact is office@launcestonmoney.co.uk . In the last year more than 800 residents in North Cornwall have had our help. Many in Week St Mary and the surrounding hamlets.

Your Parish Church NEEDS YOU

For nearly four centuries, our Grade I listed church tower has stood as a proud landmark, rising 100 feet above the landscape and watching over our community since 1643. Its history is woven into the story of this place — a symbol of heritage, faith, and continuity.

Today, however, this remarkable structure has been placed on the Heritage at Risk Register. Time and weather have taken their toll, and without urgent action the tower's future is uncertain.

A full renovation is now required to preserve and protect it for future generations. The work is extensive, with an estimated cost of £400,000.

We are asking for your help. Every donation, large or small, will bring us closer to restoring this historic tower and ensuring it continues to stand tall for centuries to come.

If this landmark means something to you, please consider supporting the restoration fund. Together, we can safeguard this piece of history and keep our tower standing proudly over the community once again.

Heard of Fake News – Now it's Deep Fake

We can no longer trust what we hear or see on our Computers, Tablets or phones. Why? Deep fake activity has become the norm – AI has improved in such leaps and bounds over the past 2 years nothing on the internet should be trusted. It's a sad statement but very, very true!

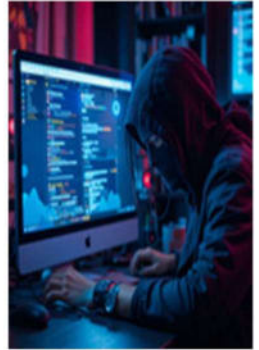

Images created, voices cloned and novels written, society as a whole is facing serious dilemmas as it will soon be impossible to tell what is factual and what is false.

Thankfully there are still a few ways to spot a fake, but it's difficult, check the following;

- Who is sharing it? Is it a strange account or senders address?
- What is their purpose? Are they asking for likes or cash?
- Check the "Head Tilt": Some AI videos still show distortions.

And if a "deepfake" person is calling you, ask for them to wave their hand in front of their face – it could break the filter.

To prove a point, I created a Christmas song called Little Bells, using only AI tools, which took less than an hour to produce and it is all fake. This can be seen and heard by linking to <https://youtu.be/HOHZUVcF75A>

Don't think for one second only Techy Nerds can produce AI fakes. Anyone with a computer and an internet link can do it, and it doesn't take long to learn. Much of it is also free to try with a few credits thrown in just for signing up and where previously expensive machinery or software had to be used, that is no longer the case everything you would want to change or create imagery is done in minutes by selecting the correct action or style – it's never been easier!

It's now almost a "CHEATS CHARTER" were the "Con-man or Con-woman" has a new range of tools in the scammer's arsenal. Passports, driving licences and ID cards can all be re-produced quickly, easily and with high degree of accuracy and you or anyone else would not know the difference.

The government should by now have legislation in place to control this type of fakery, but as ever they will think about it for so long, without action, that every politician could be cloned and find themselves voting for changes in legislation without them knowing it!

Impossible you might say, anything is possible with computerisation these days!

But regulation is severely lacking, which means more sophisticated scams will heading our way!
