Communities Against Rural Exploitation statement following Secretary of State's decision on Big Field Wind Farm

Richard Sowerby, Chairman of Communities Against Rural Exploitation, the campaign group that coordinated local opposition to the Big Field Wind Farm development and represented the local community at the Appeal Inquiry, stated, "We are of course delighted that Good Energy's Appeal of Cornwall Council's planning refusal has been dismissed and planning permission has been refused. "

"We always contended that a wind farm of such a huge scale was inappropriate in this landscape and it was detrimental to highly valued heritage assets. We are relieved for the many local residents whose lives would have been blighted by their proximity to this monstrous wind farm. We are also very grateful to the many people who gave the time, money and support that enabled us to get to this point."
